1951 "Fighting Irish".

FOOTBALL

Coach Tully Speaks

After four highly successful campaigns during which the boys of Our Lady won 26 games, tied 3, and lost only 4— disaster struck, as the 1951 Irish went down for the count in six of their eight games. A 13-7 victory over a traditional rival, Pope Pius of Passaic, and a 30-25 "squeaker" over Fordham Prep of the Bronx, New York, were the only bright spots of the season.

In fairness to all concerned, some factors which contributed extensively to the demise of the Queensmen should be mentioned here, not for the sake of implying that things may have been different "if only"—but just to make the season's analysis accurate.

To begin with, teams which Queen of Peace had been beating regularly, squared some old accounts. Immaculate Conception of Montclair, beaten four straight years by the Irish, gained sweet revenge to the tune of 44-6! After taking three successive beatings from the Green and Gold, St. Mary's of Rutherford punched out a 21-0 victory. Then, Harrison, not to be denied after four years of famine, downed the Irish in a 13-7 mudfight.

Another factor, one that is not appreciated by the average fan, was that the Irish lacked "a good bench" meaning experienced reserves. As everyone is aware, a good first team means very little unless it is backed up by top-flight substitutes. The failing of the Q.P. bench, however, cannot be attributed to the lack of ability or effort on the part of its members, but more directly to their lack of numbers and late turnout. The mistaken idea that a boy can come out for football in his Junior or Senior year and still compete on even terms with his opponents, was never more heartbreakingly shattered than during the 1951 season.

To complicate the situation, crippling injuries played havoc with the team almost daily. Coupled with the loss of seventeen members of the 1950 Co-champs and the unusually small turnout for football, this plague of injuries rendered the Queensmen almost powerless at various stages of the campaign. As a fair example of the devastation of these chronic and freak accidents we may offer that, what was considered the first string backfield played intact as a unit for exactly one and one half quarters of one game, during the whole year! This was not confined to the backs alone; however, space does not permit mentioning other instances.

The past season's poor showing serves the purpose of proving that the seemingly lowly Freshmen and Sophomores are the backbone of any winning team. If Queen of Peace is to reach once again its place at the top of the heap, more boys are needed to make the sacrifices of tough years of practice in their early years in high school, in order that when they are ready for varsity competition they will have the poise and well-based confidence that comes with experience. Nobody becomes a football player in three weeks. Let's not forget this lesson which was so pointedly learned last season.

Our Annual

Father Leo Martin poses with happy Senior group.

The annual retreat, opening the 1951-52 school year began on September 12, with Father Leo Martin, chaplain of Holy Name Hospital, Teaneck, New Jersey, as retreat Master.

Father Martin opened the retreat with a stimulating sermon on "The Business of Life" in which he compared the lives of Sir Thomas More and Thomas Cardinal Wolsey, two of England's most famous men.

Distribution of Holy Communion by Fathers, Martin, McGuinness, and Duffy.

Retreat

This was followed by a meditation on Time, and an explanation of the way to use time in order to utilize every earthly moment.

On the following days, the student body was priviledged to hear inspiring talks concerning "The Beautiful Eyes of Christ," "Death and Judgement," "Sin," "The Blessed Mother' and lastly "Saint Joseph."

As is customary at Queen of Peace, Mass was attended by the students on each morning of the retreat, and on Friday morning all received Holy Communion.

Father McGuinness celebrates the opening Retreat Mass.

Eighteenth

Eighteenth Commencement

Our Lady Queen of Peace High School

North Arlington, New Jersey

There is a growing tendency on the part of unbelievers and bigots in our country to bring about the acceptance of a very erroneous interpretation of the first amendment to the Constitution. The first ten amendments, known as the Bill of Rights, are mostly the work of Madison, and became part of the Constitution in 1791. In its inception, the Constitution was not without opposition both in and out of Congress. Many thought that the document was not sufficiently explicit as to individual and state rights. It was proposed, therefore, that a number of safeguarding amendments should be added. In line with this proposal, the first Congress in its first session of September 25, 1789, adopted and submitted to the states what is now our so-called Bill of Rights. These amendments were ratified by the states and became part of the fundamental law of our land. The first amendment was intended to clarify the whole question of what is known as the separation of church and state and thus to put the citizens of this country at ease on the great question as to whether under the Constitution there could ever be a state church here in the United States. This assurance, however, on the part of our patriot founders is now being misinterpreted, and those, who cannot stand the prosperity of another form of Christian belief, are endeavoring to read into the first amendment the violation of the rights guaranteed by the Constitution—of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness even in the domain of religious belief. (Selection from the address "The Bill of Rights.")
